

Benjamin Raffetseder

hello@benjamin-raffetseder.com

I'm a frontend developer based in ~~Linz~~ Graz with 8 years of experience in web development and design. My focus area for the past few years has been developing user interfaces with Angular or React. I love to work closely with design teams due to my background as a designer myself.

After work, I like to spend my time on my own projects such as Markee.

Experience

Web Developer

Netural (since 04/2022)

Web developer mainly working on new features and bug fixes on one of Netural's biggest client projects, voestalpine's platform "eva".

I work on a daily basis with Angular, Angular Material, and TailwindCSS.

Web Developer

mobile agreements (2020 - 03/2022)

Web developer in a lead role responsible for technical decisions and integrating features for our client's software solutions.

I work on applications using Angular, NGRX, Storybook, Jest, etc on a daily basis whether starting a new project or working on existing ones while working closely with designers and QA testers.

Performing coaching of junior developers joining the team, doing frequent pair programming sessions, while working with project managers to define roadmaps and feature priorities.

Web Developer & Designer

roromedia (2017 - 2019)

Leading role as a designer responsible for designing user interfaces based on the client's corporate identity. Creating style guides and consulting the client about possible solutions.

As a developer, I mainly applied the designs using Drupal or WordPress as CMS. Maintaining older projects and adding new features to existing sites were also common tasks to do.
